How to operate the first ink supply of Domino A200 inkjet printer?

Take a look at how the machine will supply ink for the first time after it is received.

Let's turn on the machine first. If we have just received the machine, we will put the ink in this position:

Then add a bottle of solvent to it:

We enter the primary password SERVICE on the interface, then click on the ink system, then click on the filter exhaust in the ink system.
Be sure to exhaust the air the first time you use it. Put the ink and solvent in place and drain the filter for about 5 minutes.
